Friends of Fort Dupont Ice Arena provides the Kids On Ice free, community skating program to 10,000 boys and girls each year. Now in its tenth year, the program has grown to include Learn To Skate and advanced figure skating, instructional ice hockey and speed skating, and Schools and Camps Skate for Fitness. Fort Dupont Ice Arena is the only year-round, indoor ice skating rink in the District of Columbia and the only rink in the area that offers free skating lessons to disadvantaged children.

Grassroots to Champions, Inc., was founded by Olympic figure skating coach Audrey King Weisiger. Grassroots to Champions, Inc. (G2C) conducts skating seminars designed to help up-and-coming athletes become champions. Using the latest techniques, technology and training methods, the seminars expedite the learning process in a safe and enjoyable manner. The Youth Fitness and Education Association is the not for profit foundation of G2C that recognizes young people who excel in both sports and academics, while also participating in community service activities.
